3-Day Advanced Course on Managing an Investment Arbitration

The programme: The training, which will be delivered by the most eminent practitioners in this field, will deal with what to expect in terms of procedure and substance when arbitrating an investment dispute; prepare counsel representing claimants on what needs to be taken into consideration before initiating an arbitration against a State; prepare counsel representing States on the challenges they will face and how to overcome them in defending investment claims; provide the perspective of a seasoned investment arbitrator; consider the importance of selecting the right arbitrator and means and ways of doing so; provide an enhanced understanding of jurisdictional issues through participation in a moot arbitration; highlight techniques and tools for effective advocacy in investment arbitration; provide practical guidelines on cross-examination; discuss how to navigate key substantive issues; review available remedies in investment arbitration and their standards of compensation; and deal with issues arising in the calculation of damages.

Learning Outcomes: Participants should be able to feel prepared and better equipped to handle an investment arbitration. Participants who complete the course will be awarded a certificate of attendance. CPD hours may be claimed.

Where: London, UK.

When: 25 – 27 September 2017

Who should attend? Practitioners from African countries who work in the Attorney General's chambers or equivalent; treaty negotiators from government ministries or lawyers in private practice dealing with investment disputes.

Requirements: You will have either completed the AILA introductory course on investment treaty law and arbitration (or a similar course), or will be dealing with or have previously been involved in an investor-State arbitration.

How to apply: Complete the Application Form online before 28 April 2017. Applications submitted without all the information will not be processed. Whilst we value all applications, we regret that we will only be able to respond to successful applicants.

Tuition Fees: Except for a nominal fee of £100 per successful applicant, participants travelling from Africa are exempt from tuition fees. The nominal fee must be paid at least thirty (30) working days prior to commencement of the programme to guarantee your space. The nominal fee is non-refundable even if you do not attend the training except at the absolute discretion of AILA where there are considered to be significant extenuating circumstances. Please note we do NOT offer sponsorship for the cost of airfare, accommodation, hotel meals and incidentals. It is the responsibility of each participant to ensure that they can cover these expenses.
